Preparing for your procedure

The following guidelines will assist you in preparing for your procedure:

Today

- ☐ Please complete your admission forms in preparation for your hospital stay. Refer to page 2 of this booklet for details on how to return your forms.
- ☐ Stop or reduce smoking.

Consider your discharge arrangements

Planning your discharge is an important part of your hospital stay and will involve discussion with your family and support people to ensure you are fully prepared. It is important that you plan your discharge transport before your admission wherever possible, and that your discharge arrangements are made before you leave hospital.

Preparing for your procedure

- ☐ For day procedure patients having sedation or general anaesthetic, please organise to have your Responsible Person accompany you home and stay with you overnight (refer to page 9).
- ☐ Skin care (not applicable for some procedures)—please do not shave, wax or use any hair removal products on the operation site within one week of surgery, without checking with your doctor.

Should you require pre-operative tests such as blood tests or x-rays, we will contact you up to one week prior to your procedure or as soon as possible once we receive your booking from your specialist doctor. We can arrange for these to be attended at a local provider or at Mater Private Hospital Brisbane. These tests will be ordered by your doctor if needed and are not always requested.

7 - 10 days before your procedure

If you have not received instructions regarding whether to cease blood thinning medications or not, or how to manage your diabetic medications during your fasting time, please contact your doctor for advice.

- ☐ Stop taking all herbal remedies, vitamins and fish oils now, or check with your doctor before continuing.
- ☐ If you are having surgery to your arms and/or legs, it is recommended that you remove nail polish on the affected limb.

Note: Please check any information provided by your surgeon, as these instructions may be included in an admission letter from your doctor:

Post anaesthesia instructions

The following information is being provided to help you understand:

- the effects that anaesthesia can have on you
- things you should not do after sedation or general anaesthesia
- how to return to normal eating and drinking
- what complications to be aware of
- when and how to seek medical advice.

Type of anaesthesia

- Sedation
- General anaesthesia
- Local anaesthesia.

Subtle effects of anaesthesia can last more than 24 hours after the procedure, depending on the type of anaesthesia used. Although you may feel normal within the first 24 hours, your reflexes and mental ability may still be affected without realising. You may also feel dizzy, lightheaded, sleepy, drowsy, tired and weak. After a general anaesthetic, body aches, sore muscles and a sore throat may also be present.

For safety and legal reasons, it is important that you do not do any of the following for up to 24 hours after receiving an anaesthetic:

- drink alcohol
- drive a car or operate machinery
- return to work
- make important personal/business decisions/sign important documents
- care for young children, toddlers and babies.

Please follow the post-operative instructions provided to you. It is also important during this time to have your Responsible Person stay with you.

Role of the responsible person

At any time throughout the specified time, one Responsible Person can hand over to another. For example, the person taking the patient home from hospital does not need to be the same person as the one who cares for the patient at home. The responsible person needs to:

- be able to continue to provide care and keep the patient safe while at home
- be available to take the patient home from hospital by car or taxi
- be able to continue to provide care and keep the patient safe while at home, or hand over to another responsible carer
- be available to stay with the patient for 24 hours after their procedure, if it was performed under anaesthetic (excluding local anaesthetic)
- be available to help with medication
- be available to help with hygiene (i.e. toileting, showering and dressing)
- be available to help with the organisation of the household after the procedure (i.e. shopping or meal preparation)
- seek medical help if needed (i.e. drive to doctors, telephone or call an ambulance).

Diet and fluids

Following an anaesthetic it is important to drink plenty of fluids to help flush the anaesthetic medicines through your system and to rehydrate. However, anaesthetics can cause some people to experience nausea and vomiting. To help manage this, gradually increase your diet, beginning with fluids that are clear (e.g. water, black tea, blackcurrant juice, apple juice, jelly). Then move to light refreshments when you feel you are ready, before returning to your normal diet.

Complications

If you experience any of the following, or if complications occur, please seek medical advice:

- persistent nausea and vomiting
- unexpected persistent bleeding from the wound
- a high fever
- problems with breathing
- sleepiness.

Please contact your surgeon (specialist rooms), your local doctor (GP) or, in the event of an emergency call 000.

Contact

If you need more information, please call your local Day Procedure Unit directly, or contact the hospital's emergency department.

Follow-up

A follow-up call will be made by the nursing staff after your procedure to discuss your recovery and any questions you may have. If you have questions and you haven't received a follow-up call, please do not hesitate to contact Mater Private Hospital Brisbane.

Day procedures

On arrival

Please check in with our friendly reception team at your designated reception area. When you check in, our team will confirm your details, assist you to complete any required paperwork and direct you to the appropriate care area.

Day procedure patients

Your specialist doctor may arrange for you to have your procedure and go home on the same day. If this is the case, you will be cared for in the Day Procedure Unit.

While waiting in the Day Procedure Unit for your procedure, you may have a support person wait with you. We aim to ensure that you wait for the shortest time possible. But it is a good idea to bring a book or magazine to read, or an electronic hand held device.

Your care team will keep you informed on your specialist doctor's progress and potential wait times. When it is nearing time for your procedure, a member of your care team will collect you and assist you to prepare for your procedure.

Following your operation you will return to the Day Procedure Unit where your care team will look after you until you go home. We expect that, on average, your stay with us will be approximately five to seven hours from time of admission to time of discharge.

When you are ready to leave:

- Medications that you may require for home (i.e. pain relief) can be dispensed by Mater Pharmacy before you leave.
- A member of your care team will contact your nominated Responsible Person to arrange a time for you to be collected from hospital.
- Your Responsible Person will be asked to park and come to collect you from the Day Procedure Unit located on Level 7 of Mater Private Clinic so that your discharge instructions and medications can be discussed with you both prior to you leaving.
- Please ensure your Responsible Person is with you for up to 24 hours following your anaesthetic.

Contact your specialist doctor or attend your closest emergency department if you have any post-procedural complications.

Overnight or longer stay

On arrival

Please check in with our friendly reception team at your designated reception area. When you check in, our team will confirm your details, assist you to complete any required paperwork and escort you to the appropriate care area.

Your specialist doctor will let you know if your admission to hospital requires you to stay overnight or longer.

Arriving the day prior to your procedure

If your specialist doctor has requested that you are admitted the day before your procedure, our reception team will escort you from Reception to your patient care room where a member of your care team will assist you to get settled.

After your procedure, your care team will transfer you back to your hospital room.

Arriving on the same day as your procedure

If your specialist doctor has requested that you admit to hospital on the same day as your procedure, you will be admitted and cared for in our Welcome Lounge. We aim to ensure that you wait for the shortest time possible. But it is a good idea to bring a book or magazine to read, or an electronic hand held device.

While waiting in the Welcome Lounge for your procedure, you may have a support person wait with you. Your care team will keep you informed on your specialist doctor's progress and potential wait times.

When it is nearing time for your procedure, a member of your care team will collect you and assist you to prepare for your procedure.

Going home after a longer stay in hospital

We anticipate having you ready to leave hospital by 10 am on the day your surgeon approves you to go home. This ensures we can provide admitting patients with the care they require.

On the day you leave hospital, a member of your care team will discuss with you your medications and how to care for yourself at home, and will provide you with information to take with you. Medications that you may require for home (i.e. pain relief) can be dispensed by Mater Pharmacy before you leave.

Contact your specialist doctor or attend your closest emergency department if you have any post-procedural complications.

Quick reference

Ensure you have received your fasting instructions and admission time from your doctor's practice.

Please ensure you plan your transport home from hospital before you arrive.

If you are concerned about transport home or managing at home after leaving hospital, please notify the Mater Private Hospital Brisbane Preadmission Nurses on 07 3163 3740.

The expected discharge time when you are able to leave hospital is 10 am.

Do not drive a car, sign any legal documents, make any important decisions or operate heavy equipment for 24 hours following your anaesthetic. Follow any further instructions provided by your surgeon and anaesthetist.

Smoking

This hospital is a smoke-free campus. From 1 January 2015 it is against the law to smoke at any public and private health facility and five meters beyond their boundaries.

Pharmacy and medications

There are two Mater Pharmacy locations, on Level 6 of Mater Private Hospital Brisbane and Level 2 of the Salmon Building. Mater Pharmacy offers script and dispensary services, as well as a wide range of gifts. For hospital inpatients, the pharmacy has an electronic ordering system so required medicines can be dispensed by our pharmacists and delivered to your hospital room.

To ensure your medications are managed safely while in hospital, a Mater Pharmacist is available to review medications that you have been taking at home. Please ensure that you have all your medications with you in their original containers and any current prescriptions. Or, if you take many regular medications, please request a medication list from your local pharmacy and bring this too.

During your stay your specialist doctor may ask you to stop taking your regular medications or prescribe additional medication as part of your treatment plan. For this reason, medications that have been put into a dosette box or Webster pack cannot be used while you are in hospital. New supplies are required to ensure your safety.

Security

It is recommended that you leave any valuable items including jewellery or large amounts of cash at home. While every effort is made to ensure you have a safe and comfortable stay at Mater we cannot be held responsible for the loss or theft of any personal items. For your convenience, all patient care rooms are equipped with a secure drawer.

Account information

Your Mater Private Hospital Brisbane account may include:

- Your accommodation fee
- Operating theatre fees
- Prostheses and surgical extras
- Pharmacy costs.

Hospital charges may vary depending on your treatment, length of stay, prostheses provided, accommodation type and type of private health insurance you hold.

Hospital charges do not include medical provider costs, such as your specialist doctor, anaesthetist, pathology and x-ray.

All known out-of-pocket hospital charges, not covered by private health insurers, are payable to the hospital on admission. They may be paid in cash or with most credit cards.

For your convenience an account estimate will be discussed with you before or at your admission, indicating potential out-of-pocket expenses for hospital charges. It is important to note this is an estimate only.

Private health insurance

If you have private health insurance please speak to your health fund before your admission to hospital to ensure you understand your level of cover. Important questions to ask include:

- Am I covered for the procedure at Mater Private Hospital Brisbane?
- What level of cover do I have?
- Do I have to contribute to the hospital costs (e.g. is there an excess or co-payment payable?)
- Have I served all waiting periods for my health fund?

Department of Veterans' Affairs (DVA)

If you are a DVA Gold Card holder no prior approval is necessary; however, if you are a White Card holder Mater Health will seek approval from DVA prior to your admission to hospital.

Self-insured

If you are self-insured, paying the full hospital account yourself, you will need to contact Mater Private Hospital Brisbane to obtain an estimate before your admission. Self-insured patients are required to pay for all estimated hospital costs on admission.

To assist us in providing an accurate estimate, you will need to provide as much information as possible about your stay. Your treating doctor can assist with this information.

Estimates provided are based on the information available at the time and are subject to change. If any aspect of your stay changes due to medical necessity, for example, your doctor performs a different or modified procedure, the doctor uses additional or different prostheses or the length and type of accommodation changes, this will affect the cost.
